Dear [redacted]

STAT

Thank you for your letter of 4 June 1982, in which you placed at our disposal the services of your bank. Your interest in assisting in the accomplishment of our mission is greatly appreciated.

We do indeed from time to time have occasion to call upon commercial banks for the types of services you offer; however, you can appreciate that we do so sparingly and only in those instances in which the financial facilities of the U.S. Treasury cannot be used. Our need and use of Washington-associated banks is further restricted.

While we have no requirement at this time to expand our limited relationships with the commercial banking sector, please be assured that your letter will remain on file and that, should the need arise, we would then welcome a meeting with appropriate officers of your bank.

I again wish to thank you for your offer of assistance.

Sincerely,

W. J. William J. Casey
